The image displays a close-up view of several vertical panels of wood-grain laminate. The panels are arranged in a row, separated by thin, dark vertical lines. The wood grain is a warm, medium-brown color with a natural, slightly irregular texture. The background behind the panels is a dark, charcoal grey color with a subtle, vertical ribbed texture. In the bottom right corner, the text 'L-102' is printed in a bold, white, sans-serif font.

The image shows a vertical panel of wood-grain laminate. The central portion features a light-colored wood grain with a prominent vertical grain pattern. This central section is bordered on both the left and right sides by thin, dark, solid-colored strips. The outermost edges of the panel are a dark, textured material, possibly a dark wood or a dark laminate. In the bottom right corner, the alphanumeric code 'L-113' is printed in a bold, white, sans-serif font.
