Why Abid's Commercial Kitchen Intelligent Kitchens Designed For You.

How to plan kitchen that's a pleasure to use The intelligent kitchens concept divides the kitchen into five functional areas:

- 1) Food Storage
- 2) Food Preparation
- 3) Pots & Pans
- 4) Cleaning Agents & Waste
- 5) Storage of Crockery & Cutlery

A Kitchen that Is Planned to This Concept Only Offers You advantages: short routes, ergonomic sequences and designed internal fittings Modular kitchens come in multiple shapes, styles and arrangements. But one thing remains common across all of them – the work triangle. This is a basic and scientific principle that has been used in designing ergonomic and functional kitchens through the years.

The idea behind this is quite simple. You should be able to draw a triangle between the 3 'Work centres' of the kitchen.

These are:

- 1) The Range – A place where the food is cooked.
- 2) The Refrigerator – A place which is most likely to store the food.
- 3) The Kitchen Sink – A place where the food is cleaned and prepared for cooking.

We offer customized kitchen, and we try to bring in latest designs, latest accessories and appliances. We keep updating our designs as per latest global innovations to increase comfort, functionality and style statement. How are accessories important? They help to store and access kitchen items properly, thus reducing the wastage of time and increasing ease of operation.
